

Summer Reading

June 2019

Dear Families,

Reading for enjoyment during the summer is one of life's little pleasures for most of us. Our wish for your children is that they too, look forward to reading those books that they just didn't have time for this past school year. We hope to instill in our students a lifelong reading habit of stacking their nightstands and suitcases (or camp packs) and e-readers with books they want to read.

When preparing our summer reading lists, our primary goal was to include titles that middle school readers would want to read over the summer. On each of the lists, you will find suggested titles, genres, and authors.

All students entering sixth, seventh and eighth grades are expected to read at least three books during the summer. However, there is no expectation that they write a response to what they have read. This will be an assignment they will have when they return to school in September. We do recommend that students use post-it notes or jot down notes in a response notebook as a way to record their thinking about what they have read.

The reading levels of the books on these lists may vary quite a bit because our readers also vary. If you feel that a book is not at an appropriate level for your child, please help them choose something else. You may want to choose to read the same books your child reads so that you will be able to have conversations about them throughout the summer. We are hoping that some students will choose to pair-up with friends and read the same book so that they can discuss them together.

As part of Summer reading at New York Libraries (<http://www.summerreadingnys.org/>), the State Education Department and myON, by Renaissance, are partnering to bring thousands of authentic, enhanced digital books to children all over the state. Unlimited, 24/7 access to the myON digital library will be available from May 1 through September 30. Children and families can read online using any web-based device and offline using free mobile apps.

Suggested Summer Reading for Seventh and Eighth Grade

Summer 2019

Students are expected to read any three books this summer, although we hope you will choose to read all summer. Books may be chosen from the suggestions below, but you are not limited to this list. There is no expectation that you write a response to what you have read over the summer. This will be an assignment you will have when you return to school in September. We do recommend that you use post-it notes or jot down notes in a response notebook as a way to record your thinking about what you have read.
